PERILOUS TIMES

These are perilous times we are all living!

Men call right, wrong and wrong, right. Darkness is put for light and light for darkness. Sweet is bitter and bitter is sweet. The evil are called good and the good are called evil. The only sin in America today is intolerance! All other sins are of no consequence.

The most bitter, unhappy, discontented, people in the world are called, "gay"! Those for life are called, "anti-choice". There are no "drunks", just "alcoholics". There are no "whores", only "escorts". There are no "concerned citizens", only "meddling fools". Liberty is not the right to do right, but the right to do wrong.

Bigots are those who hold to America's traditional morals. America's value system is a systematic pollution by foreign culture. Education is knowing what's-not-so. The only "absolutes" folks admit too, are absolutely ludicrous.

Our heroes are sissies, or perverted sex-fiends. Our movies are trash, our singers are screamers, our music is noise, our dances are convulsions, our prophets are cons, our heroines are whores and our educators are fools. Our politicians and judges are the best money can buy! Our leaders are Media-chosen. Our preachers are Biblically illiterate, non-believers. Our traitors are freedom fighters.

We idolize the wicked and mock the righteous!

So what? Well, it can vex your righteous soul if you're a "Lot" living in "Sodom". Seeing all this from day to day is vexing to the soul.

This issue has both some of the tripe the enemies of the Cross have said and some refutation of their agendas.

Let the words of Mordecai to Esther ring in your ears, "How do you know but that you were born to the Kingdom for such a time as this?"

SOME QUOTES I'VE BEEN READING....

"I'm sure everyone feels sorry for the individual who has fallen by the wayside or who can't keep up in our competitive society, but my own compassion goes beyond that to the millions of unsung men and women who get up every morning, send the kids to school, go to work, try and keep up the payments on their house, pay exorbitant taxes to make possible compassion for the less fortunate, and as a result have to sacrifice many of their own desires and dreams and hopes. Government owes them something better than always finding a new way to make them share the fruit of their toils with others"....

"Speech delivery counts for little on the world stage unless you have convictions and, yes, the vision to see beyond the front row seats. The [opposition party] may remember their lines but how quickly they forget the lessons of the past. I have witnessed five major wars in my lifetime, and I know how swiftly storm clouds can gather on a peaceful horizon. The next time a Saddam Hussein takes over a Kuwait, or North Korea brandishes a nuclear weapon, will we be ready to respond? In the end, it all comes down to leadership. That is what this country is looking for now. It was leadership here at home that gave us strong American influence abroad and the collapse of imperial Communism. Great nations have responsibilities to lead, and we should always be cautious of those who would lower our profile because they might just wind up lowering our flag"....

"Granny, do all fairy tales begin, "Once Upon a Time?"

"No, darling. There is a whole series of fairy tales that begin with 'If elected, I promise'..."

The number of illegals in this country at the hour I checked (these figures change constantly): 21,436,371.

The money illegal Mexicans have wired home to Mexico City since January 2006: $26,835,719.731 (yes, Virginia, that is billions, not millions).

The cost to American taxpayers for Social Security services for illegals since 1996: $397,450,593,215 (yes, billions, Virginia...). Did someone complain about the Iraqi war costs?

The number of illegal children in public schools: 3,958,789. The cost of those kids in K-12 since 1996: $13,960,845,272 (yes, billions).

The number of illegals locked up in our jails since 2001: 332,594 and the cost of those incarcerations since 2001: $13,987,744,595 (yes, billions).

We hear a lot about illegals just taking unskilled jobs no one else wants or will take. Here is the number of illegals taking skilled jobs from legal Americans: 9,872,838.

How about it, Virginia, do we have a problem? You'd better believe it!

"In the years following World War II, 15% of Americans said drinking was a problem in their family. Between 1947 and 1997, that percentage increased to 30%. On the past decade those who said alcohol was a problem in their family averaged 33%, and in 2007 that figure jumped to 35%."

Are we winning the abortion battle? According to Gallup, there has been a 400,000 drop in American abortions between 1990 and 2005, and the same source says the percentage of Americans who now think abortion is wrong has increased from 45% to 51% from 2001 to 2007. That's a small start!

Eileen Smith, life-long pro-life, but only privately, is now against abortion openly and vehemently. A radical? Maybe! But she is traumatized over the death of a young vibrant, 22-year-old unmarried girl on the operating table in a clean, sanitized health center with a legal physician (licensed since 1974) doing the baby-killing at a Hyanis Clinic in the fancy Cape Cod (MA) area.

Eileen probably has a point: the victim was her daughter, Laura, the fiancée of a soldier serving in Iraq. Eileen lamented, "If my daughter had died in a car accident, it would have been on the news that night.... If she had been Michael Vick's dog, there would be a huge outcry. But because she died of an abortion, her death was swept under the rug"....

--Robert Sumner, Evangelist

"The American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology (ABOG) wants to punish doctors who refuse to perform abortions or refer those seeking one to a doctor who will."

"Howard Dean, who is the Democrat National Committee Chairman, nominated Diego Sanchez of Massachusetts to serve on that party's platform committee.

Sanchez "used to be" a woman but had surgery to "become" a man. He will be the first transgendered person to serve on any party's platform committee....

All this talk by the politicians about "change." Make them define what they mean. Going from a Republic to a Communist government would be change."

--The Evangelist

What is so difficult to see and comprehend is that international socialist greens are pushing global warming as an excuse for stronger government control and ultimately world government.

Check out every left wing, socialist, communist Website and discover (oh-la) that all are preaching the global warming hoax. Go to GOOGLE and type in "Communist Party USA" and read all about how "greedy capitalistic pigs" are responsible for the destruction of the planet.

Incidentally, it wasn't too long ago when we discovered it was the socialists in Eastern Europe who were in fact the true destroyers of the environment. No one mentions this today.

Read Paul Kurtz and the 2000 Humanist Manifesto: "Global warming is probably on the increase, in part as a consequence of atmospheric carbon-dioxide emissions," etc. Note the word 'probably'! Let's look at it again.

"Contrary to media hysteria about polar bears facing extinction, polar bear expert Dr. Mitch Taylor notes: 'Of the 13 populations of polar bears in Canada, 11 are stable or increasing in number.' Indeed the current polar-bear population of 20,000 – 25,000 is four to five times the population of 50 years ago."

"We're in a cooling trend. The sun has gone quiet. Those guys in Canada and Russia are talking about an ice age; they've probably gone over the edge, but they have a point. The sun is in a very quiet phase. A cooling trend is under way.

South America has had the worst winter in 50 years. China has had the worst winter in 50 years. The United States is having a real old-fashioned winter. Alaska just finished one of the worst cold spells in a couple of decades – I didn't see any press on it at all, but it was 40 below for seven days straight in Fairbanks.

Another Alaskan community had 72 below, some of the coldest weather they've ever seen in modern times in Alaska. The Arctic ice cap that we heard all about melting last summer froze up."

"He is beside himself. He is delirious, or deranged. The reason why this report gained any belief was, probably, that our Lord had lived among them as a carpenter; that He was poor, and unknown; and that now, at thirty years of age, He broke off from his companions, abandoned His common employment, spent much time in the deserts, denied Himself the common comforts of life, and set up His claims to be the Messiah, who was expected by all the people to come with great pomp and splendor.

The charge of derangement on account of attention to religion has not been confined to our Saviour. Let a man be made deeply sensible of his sins, and spend much of his time in prayer, and have no relish for the ordinary amusements or business of life; or let a Christian be much impressed with his obligation to devote himself to God, and act as if he believed there was an eternity, and warn his neighbors of their danger; or let a minister show uncommon zeal, and waste his strength in the service of his Master, and the world, is not slow to call it derangement.

And none will be more ready to originate or believe the charge than an ungodly and infidel parent or brother; a self-righteous Pharisee or professor in the church.

At the same time, men may endanger themselves on the bosom of the deep, or in the bowels of the earth, for wealth; or may plunge into the vortex of fashion, and folly, and vice and break in upon hours of repose, and neglect their duties to their family, and demands of business, and in the view of the world it is wisdom, and proof of a sane mind!

Such is the consistency of boasted reason; such is the wisdom and prudence of worldly men!"

--Old Commentary

"New Zealand shows studies that kids who watch television more than a couple of hours (!) a day are more likely to have attention problems than those who do not...."

Centuries ago a Frenchman named Alexis de Tocqueville, wrote of America:

"Thus the Americans do not think that man and woman have either the duty or the right to perform the same offices, but they show an equal regard for both their respective parts; and though their lot is different, they consider both of them as beings of equal value. They do not give to the courage of woman the same form or the same direction as to that of man, but they never doubt her courage; and if they hold that man and his partner ought not always to exercise their intellect and understanding in the same manner, they at least believe the understanding of the one to be as sound as that of the other, and her intellect to be as clear. Thus, then, while they have allowed the social inferiority of woman to continue, they have done all they could to raise her morally and intellectually to the level of man; and in this respect they appear to me to have excellently understood the true principle of democratic improvement."

In contrast, De Tocqueville wrote of European sentiments:

"There are people in Europe who, confounding together the different characteristics of the sexes, would make man and woman into beings not only equal but alike. They could give to both the same functions, impose on both the same duties, and grant to both the same rights; they would mix them in all things – their occupations, their pleasures, their business. It may readily be conceived that by thus attempting to make one sex equal to the other, both are degraded, and from so preposterous a medley of the works of nature nothing could ever result but weak men and disorderly women.

As for myself, I do not hesitate to avow that, although the women of the United States are confined within the narrow circle of domestic life, and their situation is in some respects one of extreme dependence, I have nowhere seen woman occupying a loftier position; and if I were asked, now that I am drawing to the close of this work, in which I have spoken of so many important things done by the Americans, to what the singular prosperity and growing strength of that people ought mainly to be attributed, I should reply: to the superiority of their women."

--The View of Alexis de Tocqueville

Oh, that it was still true! (George L. Faull)

Here is Lenin's View:

"We must now say proudly and without any exaggeration that part from Soviet Russia, there is not a country in the world where women enjoy full equality and where women are not placed in the humiliating position felt particularly in day-to-day family life. This is one of our first and most important tasks...Housework is the most unproductive, the most barbarous and the most arduous work a woman can do. It is exceptionally petty and does not include anything that would in any way promote the development of the woman.... The building of socialism will begin only when we have achieved the complete equality of woman and when we undertake the new work together with women who have been emancipated from that petty stultifying, unproductive work.... We are setting up model institutions, dining rooms and nurseries that will emancipate women from housework.... These institutions that liberate women from their position as household slaves are springing up where it is in any way possible...Our task is to make politics available to every working woman."

In his 1920 International Working Woman's Day Speech, Lenin emphasized:

"The chief thing is to get women to take part in socially productive labor, to liberate them from 'domestic slavery', to free them from their stupefying [idiotic] and humiliating subjugation to the eternal drudgery of the kitchen and the nursery. This struggle will be a long one, and it demands a radical reconstruction, both of social technique and of morale. But it will end in the complete triumph of Communism."

Here is Lenin's Comrade, Trotsky's view:

"Socialization of family housekeeping and public education of children are unthinkable without a marked improvement in our economics as a whole. We need more social economic forms. Only under such conditions can we free the family from the functions and cares that now oppress and disintegrate it. Washing must be done by a public laundry, catering by a public restaurant, sewing by a public workshop. Children must be educated by good public teachers who have a real vocation for the work. Then the bond between husband and wife would be freed from everything external and accidental, and the one would cease to absorb the life of the other. Genuine equality would at last be established..."

Me thinks that their goals have been accomplished in America....
